Reporting and Record Keeping

The purpose of the accident reporting and record keeping is to document and track accidents and injuries in your workplace, and to implement appropriate measures to prevent repeat occurrences.

This documentation is an essential component of making your workplace as safe an environment as possible for all employees.

Information must not only be shared within the facility where the affected employee works, but among all other locations the company maintains.

Accident reporting, and the requisite OSHA 300 logs are a vital component of your health and safety requirements.

The Costech WorkSafe Program will automate and streamline the reporting process to ensure that critical information is gathered and presented in a concise and uniform format.

The WorkSafe monitoring, reporting and record keeping systems will provide your staff with the feedback and analysis that is critical to performing their jobs.

The WorkSafe analytical features will aid your staff in the implementation of preventative measures to help reduce or eliminate the potential for recurrence company wide.

Dynamic and Static Reporting

Dynamic Reports — All system reporting features will generate analysis and reports based on real time to the minute data.

Static Reports — All Reports can be produced in a PDF format for printing and backup to a separate digital storage device if required.

Work Safe Incident Management System

Costech's incident investigation system has two distinct operations.

- (1) The first provides you with the ability to efficiently and effectively record any and all accidents or incidents that take place in an OSHA compliant report. OSHA 300, 300A and 301 reports are produced and auto completed whenever you need them.

Additional information such as eye-witness accounts, images, voice recording and videos of the incident scene can also be saved to help maintain a complete accounting of every incident.

- (2) The second process is to analyze incident reports to assist and identify causes and assign corrective action to help prevent further mishaps. Analysis of all incident reports in the system will provide important information on:
 - the number of incidents by classification, shift incident occurred, body part injured, type of injury, and equipment type.
 - the total numbers of incidents per facility or location by month.

The total number incident reports for statistical analysis are displayed in a series of charts, for ease of viewing and analysis.

Printable results are available for all reports when and if required.

WorkSafe System Security

Full system backup is completed each night. Costech's automated file protection and Backup System are set to automatically make a backup of the WorkSafe System and records each night.

Costech's WorkSafe Program provides an extremely cost effective solution to improve your recordkeeping performance for this important regulatory requirement.
